

NOTICE

This handbook does not replace the official Rules and Regulations of the Georgia Department of Corrections. Information from the Rules and Regulations of the Department has been included to help you understand what is required of you, but this information is to be used in conjunction with the Rules and Regulations. In any case, where there is a conflict between information in the Rules and Regulations and information in this handbook, the Rules and Regulations are to be followed.

INTRODUCTION

Treat your time in a Correctional Facility as an opportunity to correct mistakes, to learn how to return to society as a contributing member. While you are here, treat others as you would like to be treated, observe rules and regulations, and participate actively in available programs, and you will be closer to that goal.

If you are entering a State Prison for the first time you will be interested in what is expected of you, as well as what will be provided to you, by the Georgia Department of Corrections. This booklet will answer some of your questions. It outlines the rules and regulations of the Department, as well as the disciplinary and grievance procedures that will apply to you during your incarceration. You will also learn about the programs offered through your institution.

There are rules and regulations, which you will be expected to observe while in prison as you prepare for your release from prison. You will be treated humanely and you will be allowed to earn opportunities to change the life habits that helped put you in prison. You can also learn skills that will help you find work that will hopefully keep you from returning to prison.

After you are permanently assigned to a prison in the system you will be assigned a counselor who will develop a program with you based on your individual needs and the needs of the prison to which you are assigned. You will be assigned to some form of work and you may receive some form of vocational training. Counseling services are provided in several areas including, but not limited to, substance abuse treatment, anger management, and sex offender treatment. Religious and recreational activities are also available. Your ability to participate in these programs will be determined by your behavior and their availability.

What you make of your time with the Georgia Department of Corrections is up to you. The staff will help you in your efforts to improve, but you must be willing to assume responsibility for yourself and be willing to demonstrate that willingness by your performance.

SECTION I PRISONER PRIVILEGES

A. Mail: You will be allowed to correspond with any other person unless your privilege is withdrawn as a result of disciplinary action, serious offense investigation, action taken where an abuse of the mail privilege is found, or action taken where a person requests termination of correspondence with you. All incoming mail is subject to inspection. All outgoing mail is subject to inspection. Privileged mail must be inspected in the presence of the inmate. Inmates will not be allowed to correspond with other inmates unless the inmates are immediate family as defined by the visitation policy and approval has been given by both facility Wardens/Superintendents. Electronic mail is subject to the same policy and procedures as regular mail

1. Privileged Mail:

(a) You may write uncensored and sealed letters to the following officials:

- (1) The Governor
- (2) The Lieutenant Governor
- (3) Members of the General Assembly of Georgia
- (4) The President and Vice President of the United States and Members of the United States Congress
- (5) Members of the State Board of Corrections
- (6) The Commissioner and Division Directors of the Department of Corrections
- (7) Members of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles
- (8) Any Press Organization
- (9) Any other Government agency
- (10) The Courts
- (11) Your attorney of record: This category shall include an attorney, licensed to practice in State or United States Courts, Court of Appeals, or the Supreme Court, with whom the prisoner has had or is attempting to establish an attorney-client relationship.

- (b) Mail to or from the above sources, may be externally inspected by fluoroscope, metal detecting device, or manual manipulation, for the purpose of detecting contraband. Such inspection should not create undue delays. Any correspondence discovered to contain or reasonably suspected of containing contraband, or not being authentic, may be opened and inspected provided such action is taken in the presence of the prisoner concerned. Privileged mail will not be subject to restriction as a disciplinary measure. Otherwise, properly addressed letters of this category shall be dispatched without censoring and without being opened.
2. Publications: You may receive a limited number of individual books, periodicals, or newspapers produced by major approved publishing companies, provided the publications are sent directly from the publisher concerned, or an established approved retailer.
- (a) You may not receive books, periodicals, or newspapers, or other items, the contents of which could clearly and reasonably be expected to present a threat to institutional security, discipline, or morale.
 - (b) Prisoners may not receive sexually explicit publications or materials, which are defined as publications and materials featuring nudity or sexually explicit conduct on a routine or regular basis or which promote themselves based upon such depictions. Nudity is defined as a pictorial depiction where the human male or female genitals, pubic area, buttocks, or female breasts are exposed. Sexually explicit conduct is a written or pictorial depiction of actual or simulated sexual acts, including, but not limited to, intercourse, sodomy (oral or anal) or masturbation. Any and all sexually explicit material found inside any GDC facility will be treated as contraband, confiscated and disposed of according to Standard Operating Procedures. If a publication contains materials meeting the criteria for rejection, the entire issue of the publication will be rejected. The mailroom officer will not remove the objectionable portions and allow the remainder of the publication into the institution.

- (c) Membership in book clubs or similar enterprises may be restricted due to inadequate prisoner funds, space limitations, or safety requirements. Each Warden/Superintendent may establish a limit upon the number of publications allowed per prisoner, consistent with the accommodations available at each institution. Publications available through institutional library facilities may be restricted because of space or fire hazard considerations.
- (d) Pictures and information sent or received through the GOAL Devices are subject to the same restrictions as regular mail and publications.

B. Visitation:

1. Visiting is a PRIVILEGE that is permitted under conditions determined by your Warden/Superintendent. Visiting privileges may be suspended or revoked as a disciplinary measure, or when the security of the institution so requires. The Warden may modify or limit the visiting privileges if it appears that the institution cannot accommodate the quantity of visitors entering the institution. Your visitor's list is to be prepared by you and should consist of members of your immediate family. Each correctional institution maintains a visiting area where prisoners may visit with their authorized visitors. Toilet facilities are provided for visitors.
2. Visiting Schedules:
 - (a) Your Warden/Superintendent in keeping with the Departmental Rules and Regulations will determine the days and times.

- (b) Diagnostic prisoners may not be permitted visitation privileges during the first six weeks of their assignment to that institution. After the first six weeks, diagnostic prisoners may be permitted visitation privileges as approved by the Warden/Superintendent.
- (c) The visitation privilege provided in these rules may be revoked or suspended as a disciplinary measure.
- (d) Alterations of existing visitation schedules will be published to the prisoner population in order that they may advise any of their potential visitors.

A driver's license with picture, a picture identification card issued by the Department of Public Safety or other acceptable photographed identification card will be required of visitors, age sixteen (16) and over. The register shall be dated and countersigned by the correctional officer in charge and subsequently shall be maintained on file at the institution.
- (c) Correctional Officers assigned to visiting area duty shall exclude from the institution any visitor who is under, or reasonably appears to be under, the influence of any intoxicant, whether alcohol or other drug. Correctional Officers in charge of visiting areas shall also exclude from the institution any visitor who creates a disturbance whether by fighting, unruly behavior, or endangers to the operations of the institution.

(d) PRISONERS SHALL INFORM THEIR VISITORS THAT IT IS A CRIMINAL OFFENSE TO GIVE A FALSE NAME TO AN OFFICER WHEN SIGNING THE REGISTER.

(e) Female visitors over the age of twelve (12) shall not be allowed to visit any prisoner unless they are adequately clothed. Provocative, suggestive/revealing or otherwise inappropriate dress will be cause to exclude the visitor.

(a) Immediate family is defined as a parent, grandparent, (including stepparent, parent through legal adoption, or person who acted in the capacity of a parent), spouse, brother, sister, child (including stepchild or adopted child) and grandchild. A common-law spouse and/or children previously identified on visitation list may be considered as immediate family.

(b) In each case being processed, the Warden/Superintendent shall take into consideration the prisoner's attitude, record, and security classification as well as whether such a visit is in the best interest of the prisoner, his/her family, the institution, the prisoner's community, and the citizenry of the State of Georgia.

(c) A Prisoner will be released to the temporary custody of a Sheriff or Deputy Sheriff for the purpose of a bona fide compassionate visit, only if the Sheriff accepts responsibility for the physical custody, control and return of the prisoner to the institution, in a manner, and at the time, prescribed by the

- (d) A Warden/Superintendent of a state or county institution, if sufficient correctional staff is available, may take or designate a Correctional Officer to take, a prisoner to any county in Georgia on an authenticated compassionate visit. In such cases, the prisoner shall remain under the physical control of the Warden/Superintendent or Correctional Officer at all times.
- (e) The State Board of Corrections may allow a prisoner to attend a funeral or visit a critically ill member of his/her immediate family outside the boundaries of the State of Georgia on the authority of an Executive Agreement between the Governor of Georgia and the Governor of the other state. In such cases, a Sheriff, Deputy Sheriff, or other recognized official of the other state must agree to assume custody, bear all expenses incident to the prisoner's transportation and custody, and return to the institution. - (f) You must remain seated through the entire video visit.
- (g) No inappropriate activity as defined in both the mail and regular visitation policy.

SECTION II TIME COMPUTATION

The sentence ordered by the court determines your maximum release date, which is the longest time you can spend in prison. This date does not change unless an interruption in the service of your sentence occurs. You must serve your entire sentence unless you are granted parole or a court-ordered sentence reduction. Your TPM, tentative parole month, is set by the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

SECTION III PRISONER SERVICES

A. Introduction:

A variety of programs are available in the Georgia Prison System. It is your responsibility to inform the counselors at the Diagnostic facility of your skills and abilities. In an effort to provide you with appropriate programming to address your individual needs, the Department has begun using an automated risk and needs assessment called COMPAS.

COMPAS is a questionnaire that all offenders complete to let them and the Department know what the offender should be working on to keep them from coming back to prison. Identified issues may include education, work skills, substance abuse, attitudes, and residential instability among others. The counselor will work with you to request an appropriate placement so programs are made available to you based on your needs. You must understand that you must take responsibility for your active participation in all activities made available to you. The System will not be able to provide for all your needs, but education, chaplaincy, recreation, library, substance abuse, and counseling services are found in most institutions. These services may be on a full or part- time basis. It is your responsibility to take advantage of the program activities that are offered.

1. Work:

Everyone is expected to work. You may be assigned to any one of a variety of jobs that include skilled, unskilled, clerical and others. Correctional Industries also provides a variety of work experiences at some institutions. Work is a necessary part of your daily life while in prison. Your ability to maintain a good relationship with other offenders and your work detail/ program supervisor will be evaluated and recorded in your prisoner file. It is to your advantage to report on time for your work assignment and be prepared to perform the tasks required. If you have any questions concerning your work assignment, it is your responsibility to ask for clarification and guidance from the work detail supervisor. Your work supervisor will be evaluating the work you perform and will be noting punctuality, cleanliness of the work site, and willingness to perform additional work to finish the task.

2 Academic Education and Vocational Education Programs:

The Academic Education program includes the following courses: Literacy/Remedial Reading (L/RR), Adult Basic Education (ABE), and General Education Diploma Preparation (GED Prep.). Your TABE (Test of Adult Basic Education) score places you in the correct course. Anyone who does not have a high school diploma or General Education Diploma (GED) may be eligible for academic education program enrollment. Certificates are awarded for each course completion. The GED is awarded upon successful completion of the GED examination. Enrollment priorities are the following: Pardons and Parole Pre-Release Stipulations, Short Sentences—4 years or fewer, Pre-Release centers—2 years or fewer, and sentences of more than 4 years. Academic education is expected of all eligible inmates, and classes are available at all facilities. Special Education services are also available for those qualified and age eligible.

Vocational programs are classroom laboratory, where available, or on-the-job training. The instructors in the vocational classroom laboratory programs go step-by-step through each learning experience necessary to earn a certificate of completion that includes the number of training hours completed. On-the-job training emphasizes performance of work while being trained. Assignment to a vocational program usually requires completion of a GED or having a high school diploma.

Vocational programs available at designated facilities include:

Auto Body Repair/Painting	Auto Mechanics
Barbering	Building Maintenance
Business Office Practices	Cabinet Making/Woodworking
Carpentry	Computer Repair
Cosmetology	Custodial Maintenance
Customer Service	Diesel Mechanics
Drafting	Electric Wiring, (Resid. & Ind.)
Food Preparation/Culinary Arts	Graphic Arts/Printing
Heating and Air Conditioning	Horticulture
Masonry/Tile Setting	Plumbing
Veterinary Assistant	Welding

Academic education or vocational education enrollees are required to participate and to complete all prescribed course requirements. Performance, progress, and completions are recorded in your prison file.

You are encouraged to discuss your academic education and vocational training needs with the counselor at the diagnostic center. Describe clearly your to date academic education, your previous vocational training, and the type of work experience you have performed. Discuss your expectations for your future with your counselor. Academic education and vocational education are highly valuable and will improve your chances of success and for employment upon release.

3. Counseling

Individual and group counseling help you to:

- Cope with the tensions of prison life
- Address issues which resulted in your incarceration
- Learn new skills for your successful return to the community
- Confront criminal thinking errors

You and your counselor working closely together will develop an individual program plan outlining those areas that require attention based on the results of the COMPAS assessment. You will then be responsible for participating in individual counseling and group/classes such as the following in order to address the issues identified in your plan:

Substance Abuse Treatment

- Motivation for Change
- Residential Substance Abuse
- Treatment Program
- Prime for Life

Other Counseling Programs:

- Corrective Thinking
- Family Violence
- Parenting - Female Institutions
- Reentry Skills Building
- Sex Offender Treatment

Cognitive-Behavioral

- Moral Reconciliation Therapy
- Reasoning and Rehabilitation
- Thinking for a Change

In short, you will have the opportunity to learn new attitudes and skills to assist more effective adjustment to your family, job, and community.

4. Self-Help Programs: These include such programs as AA and NA Groups as well as Volunteer Programs at selected institutions. Some kind of self-help is available in almost every institution and is provided for your benefit in learning some principles that may prove helpful to you when you are released.
5. Recreation: A limited range of programs are available to you. The purpose of these programs and activities is to help you to learn new ways to use your leisure time when you return to the community, and relieve stress while you are in the institution. Recreational programs are available at all institutions, and some institutions offer instructional classes for your benefit.
6. Library Services - A full range of Library Services is available throughout the Georgia Department of Corrections. The Library consists of books, newspapers and magazines. Additional services include access to legal resources, including an electronic law library.
7. Chaplaincy Programs - A worship service is held each week at every institution. In addition, religious education is available, either as a class, or through correspondence. Pastoral counseling is also available. Make sure you ask your counselor, or note any bulletins posted within the institution where regular schedules for religious services will be posted.
8. Health Services: Medical and dental services are provided to all prisoners in need. Upon entering GDC, you are given a thorough physical and dental examination to identify any problems that you have, particularly those needing immediate attention. Any serious problems will be treated at that time.

The “Summary of Healthcare Benefits” has been developed to outline and clarify which healthcare services are provided, and which are excluded. Healthcare services include only those services that are medically necessary, according to standardized guidelines AND:

- a. Require immediate/ urgent care OR
- b. Cannot be reasonably delayed without the risk of further complication, serious deterioration, significant pain, OR
- c. Are provided to treat a chronic or non-life threatening condition OR Improve functioning to a level that facilitates performance of the activities of daily living within the correctional environment

Every institution has a medical unit, which will treat minor illnesses and injuries like colds and cuts, provide medications when prescribed, arrange for infirmary care, hospital services or other medical consultation when needed. In certain instances, specialty consultation will be provided through telemedicine.

Inmates should use the Health Services Request form when you want to be seen at sick call. These forms will be reviewed daily at facilities that have 24-hour seven-day per week healthcare staff and you will be scheduled for sick call on the next working day. For inmates in facilities without weekend/holiday healthcare staffs, contact a correctional officer if you have healthcare needs that are urgent and cannot wait for the next working day of healthcare staff.

In accordance with state law, you will be charged a fee ($5.00 per visit) for services that you request and medications that you receive. You will not be charged for certain services and/or medications that are deemed necessary by the department or by medical. Further, you will not be denied necessary medical care based upon your inability to pay. If you are unable to pay, the $5.00 charge will be reported to the business office where it will be recorded as an outstanding debt against your account.

Every institution has a doctor who works at least part time. The doctor supervises the medical staff and checks the medical records of all prisoners who are ill or injured.

When you arrive at an institution, the medical staff will orient you to health care services and go over your medical records. They will also inform you how to access health care in an emergency, as well as sick call for routine problems. They will also tell you how you will receive any necessary medication. You have a right to make a written Advance Directive (for example, a Living Will or Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care) in the event of a sickness or a terminal condition. Medical staff can provide additional information, if requested. You are encouraged to complete your written Advance Directive during the intake process period. This will allow you to choose someone to make healthcare decisions for you when you cannot make healthcare decisions for yourself.

Dental services are located on-site in the larger institutions. There will be a dentist and dental staff to take care of necessary dental treatment. The staff at your institution will tell you how to request these services. As with medical care, you will be charged a fee ($5.00 co-pay) for service that you request. If you are sent to a smaller institution, you will be sent out to a local dentist or to another nearby prison for dental services. Your medical staff will make these arrangements.

In addition, you will be tested for certain communicable diseases such as tuberculosis, syphilis, HIV infection and if necessary, other infections such as hepatitis. You will be informed of your test results.

Over the Counter Medications

Beginning March 1, 2003, some over the counter (OTC) medications will be sold in the commissary. OTC medications are things you can buy without a prescription and they will cost less than going to sick call. Some examples are ibuprofen for aches and pains, antacids for heartburn and cough drops etc. Medication purchases will be part of your allowed spending limit. If you do not have money in your account you should request to be seen in sick call and if medical staff determines you need OTC medicine, they will issue it to you.

Communicable Diseases

As an inmate/probationer in a correctional facility, it is important for you to understand basic information on certain communicable diseases in order to protect yourself and others from exposure.

Tuberculosis is a disease, usually of the lungs, which is spread in the air when a person with TB disease coughs, sneezes or sneezes. The symptoms of TB include cough, weight loss, fever and night sweats. People can have the TB germ in their body and not get sick. This is called TB infection. The TB skin test is how to tell if you have TB infection. Both the infection and disease can be treated with drugs. If you have TB infection and are not treated with drugs, your risk of getting tuberculosis is increased. You should report any signs and symptoms of tuberculosis such as a cough lasting more than 2 weeks, fever, night sweats, coughing up blood or weight loss to health services. You will be tested each year for the TB germ while you are incarcerated, unless you have already had a positive test.

Hepatitis means inflammation of the liver. Many things, including germs, alcohol and medications, can cause Hepatitis. Germs called viruses cause Hepatitis B and C. These viruses can be found in blood, saliva and sexual secretions. It is spread by two people sharing tattoo or drug injection equipment, razor blades or unprotected sexual contact. Symptoms of hepatitis include nausea, having no appetite, dark colored urine, and the skin or eyes turning yellow. Some people have no symptoms at all.

HIV means human immunodeficiency virus; it is the germ that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome or AIDS. This virus is found in blood and sexual secretions, but not usually in saliva. Sharing tattoo or drug injection equipment or unprotected sexual contact also spreads HIV. Symptoms of HIV include fever, swollen glands, a skin rash and feeling like you have the flu. Over time, HIV can damage the immune system and result in life-threatening infections and cancers.

Syphilis is a sexually transmitted disease (STD) which means it is spread by sexual contact. At the beginning, the infection causes a sore at the site of infection. Over time the germ moves throughout the body damaging many organs. An infected person who has not been treated may infect others during the first and second years after infection. It can be treated with drugs and it is important it be treated early in the disease to prevent future serious effects of the infection.

If the medical staffs believe that you have a communicable disease, you will be asked to undergo a medical evaluation. Medical evaluations may not be refused if it places others at risk.

It is very important that you protect yourself and others from getting, and spreading these infections during your incarceration. People who have these infections may not have any symptoms, but can still be contagious.

To reduce your risk of getting these infections or diseases:

1. Do not use or share tattooing, needles or other “works” with other inmates;
2. Do not share razors or toothbrushes;
3. Do not have unprotected sex while in prison and when released into the community;
4. Do have a TB skin test each year (unless you have already had a positive test);
5. Do report any symptoms of hepatitis, HIV or other sexually transmitted infections to the health care staff so that you can be tested and treated.

MRSA (Methicillin Resistant Staphylococcus Aureus) is a skin infection being seen with increasing frequency in the prisons. Staphylococcus is a commonly found bacterium (germ) on the skin. Occasionally it gets into the body and causes infection. Infections can be minor (pimple, boils) or serious (pneumonia). When the germ becomes resistant (does not respond) to an antibiotic called Methicillin (usually effective against the germ), other antibiotics will be used to treat the infection. MRSA is most often spread by physical contact. Prevention: Wash hands often with soap and water; do not share soap; use soap when showering; clothes and linens should be laundered in a washer and dryer and not hand washed (The heat and soap kills the bacteria that may be on clothes).

If you want more information or have questions, contact health services and someone from the clinical staff will assist you.

9. Mental Health Services:

Mental health services are available to all prisoners who have a need for such services. If you have feelings, thoughts, and behavior, which you cannot handle, you should contact your counselor or other staff in the institution. In many cases, your counselor can help you deal with the problem. If you were ever treated in a mental health hospital, by mental health staff in the community, or have been in special education in school, you should let your counselor know this. Should you have a serious mental health need, you may be referred to a mental health staff member who will work with you. He/she may also have you see a psychiatrist or psychologist who will be involved in your treatment program. Counseling and medical staff in your institution can tell you how to get such help should you need it.

PERSONAL LIABILITY

If you are responsible for injuring another inmate, and it is not a result of mental illness, you will be required to pay for the medical services to that inmate pursuant to state law. The amount may exceed $5.00.

SECTION IV PRISONER GRIEVANCES

A. When to File a Grievance

Whenever possible, prisoner complaints and grievances should be resolved on an informal basis without the filing of a formal grievance. You are encouraged to discuss any grievance with your counselor and resolve the conflict prior to filing a formal grievance. At the same time, no prisoner shall be denied access to this procedure. No attempt will be made to limit the type of grievances any prisoner may file except for issues excluded from the grievance procedure. Items that are not grievable under this procedure are:

1. Any matter over which the Department has no control. These matters include parole decisions, sentences, tort claims against the postal department for loss of mail and those matters established by the laws of this State.
2. Disciplinary actions cannot be grieved by or through this procedure. A Prisoner may appeal a disciplinary action as established by GDC Disciplinary Appeal Procedures in SOP 209.01. The matter of disciplinary actions, appeals and the matters of this grievance procedure are different and are to be handled independently of each other.
3. Transfers are not subject to this grievance procedure since the reasonable transfer of prisoners is necessary to maintain the work and stability of the prison system.

4. Routine housing assignment changes are not subject to the grievance procedure, unless the prisoner alleges that the assignment poses a threat to his or her health or safety.
5. Involuntary assignments to administrative segregation by the Classification Committee are not subject to the grievance procedure. GDC Rule 125-3-1-.03 and GDC SOP 209.06 establish a review and appeal procedure--"Administrative Segregation." Any condition, policy, procedure or action (or lack thereof) directed toward prisoners of which the Georgia Department of Corrections has control may be cause for a grievance to be filed. The prisoner should state specifically in his/her grievance the reason why a policy, procedure, condition, or action should be changed, or reviewed. Disputes over responsibility or what is grievable shall be submitted through the grievance procedure for resolution.

Inmates are allowed to file one grievance per calendar week. Grievances must include only one issue. Additional pages to the informal grievance will be rejected.

B. Procedure for Filing a Grievance

If you have a legitimate grievance that you feel needs to be brought to the attention of the authorities, you should get a grievance form from your living unit. You must file the grievance within ten (10) calendar days from the date that you discovered, or reasonably should have discovered, the incident giving rise to the complaint you wish to make. All inmates will have access to grievance forms including those in isolation and segregation. Prisoners may receive assistance in filling out the grievance form from the assigned counselor or any other designated staff member; however, one prisoner cannot file a grievance on behalf of another prisoner except in cases of medical emergencies where the aggrieved prisoner is physically unable to initiate the grievance.

You will be limited to two (2) pending non-emergency grievances at any one time at the institutional level. If you file a grievance when you have two (2) other grievances pending, it will be logged and held by the grievance coordinator until any one grievance previously submitted has been completed on the institutional level. The time limits herein do not apply to those grievances held in such status. Grievances will be handled in the order they are received. You may dismiss all prior pending grievances to allow the resolution of a particular grievance.

When you receive the grievance form complete it and return it to any counselor. You will be given a written receipt, indicating the date the grievance was filed. Your counselor will meet with you and thoroughly investigate your complaint. Your counselor will also interview witnesses as necessary and complete a written report summarizing the facts of your complaint. The counselor's findings and recommendations will be presented to you. If you are not satisfied with the counselor's recommendations, you may request a formal grievance form. The formal grievance form must be filed within five (5) business days of your receipt of the completed informal grievance form. The counselor will give you a receipt, conduct further investigation, if necessary, and present findings and recommendations to the grievance coordinator.

The grievance coordinator will review your counselor's report and indicate his/her concurrence or disagreement with the counselor's recommendations. The grievance coordinator will then submit the grievance, the counselor's report, and the grievance coordinator's findings to the Warden/Superintendent or his/her designee for review and an official response.

You will be interviewed regarding the response and you will be advised of your appeal options. You will be given the original grievance form with the Warden's or Superintendent's response and a "Prisoner Reason for Appeal" form at this time. If you accept the proposed solution the process ends at that point.

The institution has thirty (30) calendar days from the date you turn in the grievance to your counselor until the Warden/Superintendent's response is given to you. However, the grievance coordinator to complete the investigation may exercise a one-time extension beyond the 30 days, not to exceed 10 calendar days. This does not require your approval.

If you wish to appeal the Warden/Superintendent's response, the appeal will be directed to the Director, Office of Investigations and Compliance (OIC). This appeal must be made within five (5) calendar days of your receipt of the Warden/Superintendent's response. To allow a full review of all issues that you wish considered you should state these reasons clearly for appeal. Statements such as "not satisfied" or "appeal further" will result in only a general review at the Director's level.

The Director of Professional Standards or his/her designee will have ninety (90) calendar days after the receipt of the grievance in which to respond. The Departmental grievance procedure terminates with the OIC response.

You will be limited to two (2) pending non-emergency grievances at any one time at the institutional level. If you file a grievance when you have two (2) other grievances pending, it will be logged and held by the grievance coordinator until any one grievance previously submitted has been completed on the institutional level. The time limits herein do not apply to those grievances held in such status. Grievances will be handled in the order they are received. You may dismiss all prior pending grievances to allow the resolution of a particular grievance.

In a situation involving potential irreparable harm to you, your emergency grievance will be immediately referred to the grievance coordinator (or the senior staff member on duty outside of normal working hours). The grievance coordinator (or senior staff member) will determine if the grievance is an emergency. If so, the grievance coordinator (or senior staff member) will immediately take whatever action is necessary to protect your health, safety, or welfare.

You will receive a written response to the emergency grievance within ten (10) days at the Warden/Superintendent's level, and, if appealed, within thirty (30) days at the Director's level.

A grievance found by the grievance coordinator (or senior staff member) not to be an emergency will be treated as an ordinary grievance and will count against this limit of two (2) pending grievances. You may challenge the determination that a grievance is not an emergency grievance by filing another grievance, which will be handled through routine non-emergency channels.

No staff member or prisoner will be subjected to any form of reprisal for participation in the grievance procedure. However, threats, profanity, insults, and racial slurs, unless an alleged direct quote of another party shall not be permitted in grievances and may result in disciplinary action.

Hair shall be no longer than three (3) inches; shall not extend beyond a point that would reach the collar of an ordinary shirt; and shall not cover any part of the ears or eyebrows. You may wear sideburns no longer than a point even with the bottom of the ear canal. (A diagram of allowable type haircuts is posted in each prisoner barbershop).
 7. Mustaches are permitted, but shall not extend beyond the edge of the mouth and must be kept neat and trimmed at all times.
 8. Goatees, beards, and similar facial adornments are prohibited.
 9. You will be provided storage space. You must maintain your personal and state property and your assigned area in neat, orderly and sanitary condition at all times.
- D. Marriage. You may be granted permission to be married only under certain conditions. See your chaplain for specific details.
- E. Transfers. A Prisoner shall be transferred from one institution to another at the discretion of the Department of Corrections. Routine administrative transfers generally shall not be considered until an inmate has been assigned to an institution for twelve (12) months with no major Disciplinary Reports during the preceding 6 months. Transfer request for closer to home should be made through your institutional counselor.

International Prisoner Transfer Program: The United States has entered into international treaties with many countries, which may permit a foreign national prisoner from one of the treaty countries to transfer to his/her home country to serve the remainder of his/ her sentence. The State of Georgia has enacted legislation, which allows it to participate in the International Prisoner Transfer Program. The transfer program is discretionary and not everyone who applies will be qualified or will be approved for transfer. To transfer you, the State of Georgia must first approve your application. The United States and your home country must also approve your application before a transfer can occur. If you are a foreign national from a country that the United States has treaty and are interested in further information about the program or would like to apply for a transfer, please contact your nearest consulate or your counselor when you arrive at your first permanent institution.

F. Discharge Gratuities. If you are a felony prisoner and are not participating in a work-release program and you are discharged after a completion of your sentence, or are conditionally released, pardoned or paroled, or are released in any other lawful manner from a state or county institution, you will receive the following clothing and monetary allowance:

1. Clothing appropriate to the season of the year.
2. A check for $25 with the order for discharge, parole, or other lawful release. If you are released to the custody of another agency, you will not receive a check.
3. A ticket for common carrier transportation to your home, if located in the United States.

NOTE: A prisoner who has participated in a work-release program shall not be furnished any of the items listed above unless it is determined that he/she has extraordinary financial needs as established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Corrections.

4. A felony prisoner who is released to a Sheriff or a United States Marshal on a detainer to serve a sentence already imposed or to stand trial on pending charges, or who is released to county authorities on a detainer to serve a county sentence, shall not be entitled to the items listed above.

If you are a state prisoner, convicted of a misdemeanor offense, and released from detention in a lawful manner you shall be provided funds in the amount not to exceed $25 plus an allowance for travel. A clothing issue for this type prisoner is NOT authorized.

G. DNA Testing. State law now requires the Department of Corrections to collect and submit specimens to the GBI for DNA testing on the following groups:

1. Any person convicted on or after 7/1/1992 of a sex offense listed in Section 24-4-60(b), whether a felony or a misdemeanor.
2. Any person convicted of any felony on or after 1/1/2000 and sentenced to prison.
3. Any person convicted of any felony prior to 1/1/2000 and who was in prison on 1/1/2000.
4. Any person convicted and sentenced to felony probation on or after 7/1/2007 for a violation of an offense listed in Section 24-4-60(c)(1).

A First Offender Act (FOA) sentence qualifies IF the person does time in prison. Also, if the FOA probation is revoked, adjudicated guilty, and sentence is imposed, it is considered a conviction and therefore qualifies for testing.

H. TOPPSTEP

The Offender Probationer Parolee State Training Employment Program (TOPPSTEP) is available to any offender who upon release cannot find employment in a reasonable amount of time. Your counselor should see that a TOPPSTEP package containing a social security card, picture ID, birth certificate, job pre-screening application and other pertinent employment materials is mailed to the probation office within the judicial circuit where your case originated or to the parole district office which supervises the county in which you will reside. Upon receipt of this employment package, a probation or parole officer trained as a TOPPSTEP representative will make a referral to the local Department of Labor for job training and/or placement.

I. Tobacco Products.

Each institution will have a policy controlling or Prohibiting the use of tobacco products. You must conform to the policy of the institution to which you are assigned.

J. Access to Courts

While you are under the control of the Georgia Department of Corrections and incarcerated in a state-operated facility, you are provided with the means to challenge the legality of your conviction and the conditions of your confinement. The Department provides a variety of means to ensure that each prisoner in GDC facilities has adequate access to the courts. This includes reasonable access to an electronic law library and legal assistants.

“WARNING”

“Prisoners should take note that while they have the right of access to the courts, all courts frown on frivolous lawsuits or the abuse of the judicial process for the purpose of harassment. Prisoners should take note that should they file an action against a Defendant and be unsuccessful or if that lawsuit is deemed frivolous, any court, either State or Federal, can, and likely will, cast costs against such prisoners which can be taken from the prisoner's account or from any other property the prisoner now owns or may in the future acquire.” Additionally, prisoners must pay the filing fee for any civil suit filed in a State or Federal Court. If the prisoner cannot pay the fee initially, money will be taken from the prisoner's account until the fee is paid. If the fee or any portion of the fee is still owed upon the prisoner's discharge, collection will continue until the filing fee is completely paid.

K. Foreign Consular Listings

Foreign nationals may obtain a listing of foreign consular offices located in the United States. This listing may be accessed through the facility's reference library.

SECTION VIII - STATE BOARD OF PARDONS AND PAROLES.

- A. The State Board of Pardons and Paroles has Constitutional authority to grant paroles, pardons, and reprieves, to commute and remit sentences, and to remove disabilities imposed by law. A decision to grant any type of clemency is by majority vote of the Board members. The Board reserves the right to withdraw the grant of any form of clemency prior to the prisoner's release.

- B. Parole Consideration. A Prisoner serving in the custody of the Department of Corrections is automatically considered for parole if eligible under State laws. No application is necessary. A Prisoner who is still in the county jail or who is serving consecutive county misdemeanor sentences in a county institution must write the Board and request consideration.

A person serving a non-life sentence for a non-violent offense may be considered for parole after necessary investigations are completed. A person serving a non-life sentence for a violent offense, sex offense, or drug trafficking will be considered for parole upon reaching statutory parole eligibility.

- C. Time Served Rules. A person serving a non-life sentence reaches statutory parole eligibility after serving one third of his/her court imposed felony sentence, or after serving seven years on a sentence of 21 or more years. A person serving a life sentence for a drug offense is considered after serving seven years. A person serving a non-life sentence for a "Serious Violent Felony" committed on or after 1-1-95 is not eligible for parole and must serve the sentence in its entirety. A person serving a Life sentence for "Serious Violent Felonies" committed on or after 1-1-95 and before July 1, 2006 is eligible for parole consideration after service of 14 years. ("Serious Violent Felonies" defined under Georgia law are; Murder, Rape, Armed Robbery, Aggravated Sodomy, Kidnapping, Aggravated Child Molestation, and Aggravated Sexual Battery.) A person serving a life sentence for any of these same offenses committed on or after July 1, 2006 is eligible for parole consideration after service of 30 years. [OCGA § 17-10-6.1(c) (1)]

EXCEPTIONS:

1. A person receiving a second conviction for any "serious Violent Felony" must be sentenced to "Life without Parole." [OCGA § 17-10- 7 (b) (2)]
2. On or after May 1, 1993 a person may be sentenced to "Life without Parole" upon conviction for Murder if certain aggravating circumstances occur. This would be a case in which the Death Penalty could have been sought.
3. A person who was serving a Death sentence for a crime committed on or after 1-1-77 but before July 1, 2006 and whose sentence is commuted to Life must serve 25 years before eligibility. When a Death sentence for a crime occurring on or after July 1, 2006 is commuted by the Parole Board to LESS than Life without parole, the person must serve 30 years before eligibility. [OCGA § 17-10-6.1(c) (2)]
4. A person serving a Life sentence for Murder committed on or after 7- 1-83 but before July 1, 2006 and who has previously served a Life sentence must serve 25 years before eligibility.
5. A person sentenced to life for a murder committed on or after July 1, 2006, who previously been incarcerated under a life sentence, must serve at least 30 years before becoming eligible for parole consideration.
6. A person serving consecutive Life sentences for offenses occurring in the same series of acts and committed on or after 7-1-83 but before July 1, 2006 and any of the Sentences are for Murder must serve consecutive 10 year periods for each sentence to a maximum of 30 years before eligibility.

7. A person sentenced to life for a murder committed on or after July 1, 2006, who has also received consecutive life sentences as a result of offenses occurring in the same series of acts, must serve consecutive 30 year periods for each such sentence, up to a maximum of 60 years before becoming eligible for parole consideration.

By Board policy a person considered for Parole on a Life sentence and denied, will be reconsidered not more than 8 years from the date of the most recent denial.

D. Parole Decision Guidelines:

Parole Decision Guidelines help the Board make a more consistent, soundly based, and understandable parole decision on a prisoner serving a sentence less than life imprisonment.

Guidelines help the Board decide on a tentative parole month for the prisoner or decide that he/she will complete his/her sentence without parole.

A Board hearing examiner identifies a prisoner's Crime Severity Level from a table of offenses ranked in eight levels from lowest to highest severity. The higher the severity, the longer the prisoner is recommended to serve. Then, the hearing examiner calculates the prisoner's risk to re-offend score by adding weighted factors with proven predictive value from the prisoner's criminal and social history. A history of things such as is prisoner serving for a property offense, parole or probation failure, and the number of felony and misdemeanor arrests are all indicators of increase risk for parole failure, and would result in a recommendation for a longer term of confinement.

The hearing examiner inserts the prisoner's Crime Severity Level and parole risk factor score into a Guidelines Chart, while also weighing sentence length. This chart (or grid) indicates how long the prisoner should be confined. This translates into either a recommendation for parole denial or for a Tentative Parole Month in the future.

By majority vote, the Parole Board members either agree with the Guidelines recommendation or, for a stated reason, depart from it and make an independent decision. They then send the prisoner a notice explaining their decision and emphasizing that any Tentative Parole Month is conditioned on good conduct in prison. Usually on the recommendation of the Department of Corrections, misconduct results in parole postponement or cancellation.

Parole Guidelines help keep the Board on track toward its goal of seeing that prisoners serving for similar offenses with similar histories are treated the same.

E. Work Release and Alcohol-Drug Treatment:

When considering a prisoner for parole, the Board may tentatively approve parole on the condition that the prisoner successfully completes the Department of Corrections' work release program first, which usually takes about six to ten months. The prisoner is notified that he/she is being recommended to the Department of Corrections for work release. In the same way, the Board during parole consideration may recommend a prisoner for the Department of Corrections' alcohol and drug treatment program, which, upon successful completion, may lead to parole.

The only time the Board normally may consider recommending a prisoner for these programs is when the Board sets a tentative parole month or when a prisoner reaches his/her tentative parole month but needs to develop a parole residence plan.

F. Hardship Parole

There is no “Hardship Parole.” Difficulties suffered by a family are not taken into consideration in determining whether an inmate will be paroled.

G. Compassionate Reprieve.

The majority of inmate’s requests for Emergency Compassionate Leave will be handled at the institutional level by the Superintendent (Warden). The Parole Board will consider request for Compassionate Reprieves under the following circumstances.

1. Inmates serving for a sex offense (not listed in the Sentence Reform Act of 1994 OCGA § 17-10-6.1(c) and 17-10-7(b)).
2. Inmates serving for Murder with aggravating circumstances as defined in Georgia Code 42-5-85.
3. Any Compassionate Reprieve which would require travel outside the State of Georgia.

A compassionate reprieve is a release from prison for a few hours or a few days to allow a prisoner to visit a critically or terminally ill member of his/her immediate family, to visit an immediate family member undergoing a critical operation, to attend the funeral of a member of his/her immediate family, or for other reasons the Board deems appropriate.

A request for a compassionate reprieve may be submitted to the Board’s Central Office in person, by letter, or by telephone.

During non-office hours, a request may be telephoned to the Board's duty officer through the GDC Communications Center at (404) 651-6511.

The request should include:

- the name of the critically ill patient and his/her illness or the name of the deceased
- the telephone number of the physician or funeral director who will confirm this information
- the relation of the patient or deceased to the prisoner
- the hospital where the patient is being treated or the date, time, and location of the funeral
- the proposed residence during the reprieve
- The travel arrangements.

H. Medical Reprieve:

A medical reprieve may be granted to a prisoner shown to be suffering from an illness for which necessary treatment is available only outside the State prison system or to a prisoner in deteriorating condition from a terminal illness. The written request for such a reprieve should be submitted to the Board through the Department of Corrections Medical Services Director, which should medically document the need for the reprieve. The request should also include the plan for residence, medical care, and payment of medical expenses.

I. Commutation of Unjust Sentence.

Commutation is the reduction of a sentence to a lesser sentence. The Board considers commuting a prison sentence only when it receives substantial written evidence that the sentence is either excessive or constitutes a miscarriage of justice. Without convincing evidence to the contrary, the Board presumes that a sentence is fair and correct.

J. Restoration of Civil and Political Rights.

Under Georgia law a person convicted of a “felony involving moral turpitude” loses all civil and political rights, including the right to vote, the right to hold public office, and the right to serve on a jury. Under the 1983 State Constitution the right to vote is restored automatically to ex- offenders who have completed their sentences, including probation.

A restoration of civil and political rights carries no implication of innocence and may be granted only to a person who has discharged from all prison, probation, or suspended sentences.

A discharge is either a completion of all sentences or an early termination/commutation of all sentences. Early Termination/Commutation of a sentence may be considered by the Board for Parolees whose progress and conduct during the supervision period has been excellent. The Board will consider those serving Non-violent offenses and Life drug cases after a minimum of 24 months under supervision, for Life Sentences other than drug cases and Board Designated Violent Offenses after serving a minimum of 60 months under supervision, and for other Violent Offenses after a minimum of 36 months under supervision. Upon completion of all sentences, an offender must wait two (2) years with no criminal involvement or supervision before being eligible to apply for restoration of rights.

K. Pardon.

A pardon is a declaration of record by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles that a person is relieved from the legal consequences of a particular conviction. It restores civil and political rights and removes legal disabilities resulting from the conviction. A pardon neither expunges a criminal record nor alters one's status as a convicted felon. It does, however, restore civil and political rights and removes disabilities as a result of a felony conviction.

A pardon may be granted in two instances:

1. A pardon may be granted to a person who, to the Board's satisfaction, proves his/her innocence of the crime for which he/she was convicted under Georgia law. Newly available evidence proving the person's complete justification or non-guilt may be the basis for granting a pardon. Application may be submitted in any written form any time after conviction.
2. A pardon which does not imply innocence may be granted to an applicant convicted under Georgia law who has completed his/her full sentence obligation, including serving any probated sentence and paying any court-ordered payment and who meet certain requirements. There are two (2) types of pardons considered by the Parole Board: a General Pardon and a Sex Offender Pardon. Eligibility requirements are different for each of these types of requests.

General Pardon Eligibility Requirements

- Applicant must have completed all sentence(s) at least five (5) years prior to applying.
- Applicant must have lived a law-abiding life during the five (5) years prior to applying.

- If the applicant has a conviction(s) for sex offenses which required registration on Georgia's Sex Offender Registry but has been removed from the registry prior to making application, he/she may make application once he/she has completed all sentence(s) and lived a law-abiding life for at least five (5) years prior to applying. However, a certified copy of the registry removal order MUST be provided with the pardon application.

Sex Offender Pardon Eligibility Requirements

- If the applicant is still active on Georgia's Sex Offender Registry, he/she must have completed all sentences for sex offenses requiring registration at least ten (10) years prior to applying.
- Within 90 days of application for the Pardon, applicant must have a psychosexual evaluation conducted. A list of approved sex offender_treatment providers can be found on the pardon application. All costs are the responsibility of the applicant.
- Within 90 days of application for the Pardon, applicant must submit to a disclosure polygraph. A list of approved polygraph examiners can be found at on the pardon application. All costs are the responsibility of the applicant.
- Applicant must provide a current copy of his/her most recent risk level evaluation as assigned by the Sexual Offender Registration Review Board (SORRB).
- Applicant must have lived a law-abiding life during the ten (10) years prior to applying.

The five and 10 year waiting periods after sentence completion may be waived if the waiting period is shown to be detrimental to the applicant's livelihood by delaying his/her qualifying for employment in his/her chosen profession. Application must be made by the ex-offender on a form available from the Board on request.

An application for a Pardon or Restoration of Civil and Political Rights, may be downloaded from the Parole Board's website. www.pap.georgia.gov. Click on "Pardon/Parole Consideration & Guidelines, then Pardon & Restoration of Rights". An application may also be obtained by sending a written request to the Board's Central Office address listed in paragraph "M" of this section.

L. Written Information Welcome

Any letter or statement about a prisoner received by the Board becomes a permanent part of the Board's case file on the prisoner. Anyone is welcome to submit such information.

SECTION IX - PROBATION SUPERVISION: Instruction for Offenders who have Probation Supervision following Release from Prison or Parole.

A. Georgia Supervision

Prior to your transfer to prison from the local jail, you received instructions to report to a specific probation office immediately upon release from prison or parole. Please note that many probation offices may have moved to a different location since your incarceration or you may have forgotten where you were instructed to report. You will need to confirm the location where you are to report with your counselor prior to leaving prison. You are to report to the specified probation office no later than noon of the next business day following your release from prison or parole.

When you report to the designated probation office, the staff there will review probation conditions with you. Probation conditions are set by the sentencing judge and must be followed without variation. Failure to comply with the conditions may result in disciplinary action.

Additionally, you will be interviewed as part of an assessment process to determine your risk to the community. The assessment will determine what kind of supervision you will receive during the probation portion of your sentence. Depending on the results of the interview, review of your criminal record, and other factors, you will be assigned to one of four different supervision levels. Specialized, High, Standard, and Contact. The level to which you are assigned will determine how strictly you are supervised. Your supervision may include curfews (times at which you must be in your residence), drug or alcohol testing, searches of your home and person, and other procedures.

If you are a sex offender, you will be placed on a Specialized Probation Supervision caseload. These caseloads have additional rules that must be followed. For example, you may be required to provide the officer with a travel log that shows exactly where you were during specific times, or submit to polygraph tests.

It is important that you cooperate in every way with the probation officer. Failure to do so may result in a return to a more restrictive custody. If you comply with the court orders and with the instruction of your probation officer, you will progress through increasingly less strict supervision levels.

If you are a resident of Georgia but are not a resident of the county in which you were sentenced, or if you plan to reside in another county other than the county in which you were sentenced, you are still required to report to the specified probation office within the sentencing county or circuit no later than noon of the next working day following your release from prison or parole.

A. Interstate Compact

Interstate Compact is an agreement among all fifty states and three US territories (Puerto Rico, U. S. Virgin Islands, and Washington D.C.) to ensure proper supervision of parolees and probationers who are sentenced in one state but request to reside in another. There are rules and regulations you must follow to apply for transfer through Interstate Compact. To qualify for a Mandatory Transfer Request, you must either have been a resident of the receiving state for at least one year prior to your date of offense in GA; or you must have family in the receiving state (parent, grandparent, aunt, uncle, adult child, adult sibling, spouse, legal guardian or step-parent), that have lived there for at least six months and are willing and able to assist you with your plan of supervision. Discretionary Requests for the purpose of relocation without any of the above criteria could be denied by the receiving state.

If you are not a resident of Georgia and have a verified home plan in another state, you should meet with your counselor to discuss an Interstate Compact Transfer. You will be required to sign the Application for Compact Services and Agreement to Return Form and pay a $100.00 non-refundable, application-processing fee per submission (OCGA 42-9-90). If you do not have the funds available, the fee can be paid by your family member via money order and mailed to Consolidated Banking Unit (CBU) at: Georgia Dept. of Corrections/CBU / 3rd Floor Ponder Hall / P.O. Box 1529 / Forsyth, GA 31029. Your GDC Number and Interstate Compact must be included in the memo section of the money order.

The Application for Compact Services and Agreement to Return states that you agree to abide by the terms and conditions of supervision as set by both GA and the receiving state and you waive extradition (your right to challenge being returned to GA) and agree to return to the state of GA whenever you are ordered to do so by the state of GA. This form must be signed or your request to transfer will be denied.

If being released on Parole, rather than Probation, Parole Board personnel will initiate the Interstate Transfer with your GDC counselor. There is no need to contact the Parole Board if you provided an out-of-state address during diagnostic intake or when your counselor was preparing a "Parole Review Summary." Once the application is signed and your residential plan is given to your counselor, the paperwork will be submitted to the Interstate Compact Office. The Interstate Compact Office will then review the request and forward it to the receiving state. The receiving state will investigate and advise GA of its decision to approve or reject the transfer request. If approved, your reporting instructions will be provided by your GDC Counselor and will be in writing on your Parole Certificate. You will then be allowed to proceed to the receiving state immediately upon release. If the transfer request is rejected, you will be required to either provide another out of state address or an alternate residence plan to remain in the State of Georgia for the balance of your parole or probation sentence.

If you are not granted parole but will have an active probation case upon your release from prison, your counselor should notify the Department of Community Supervision (DCS) Office located in the circuit/county of conviction of your request to transfer out of state. Your counselor will also need to forward the signed Application for Transfer to the DCS officer. This process can begin as early as six (6) months or 180 days before your max date. If the transfer is approved prior to your release from prison, the DCS officer will provide reporting instructions and a travel permit to you through your counselor and you will be allowed to proceed directly to the receiving state. If your case is not accepted prior to your release date, you must report to your DCS officer for further instructions. You must have the approval of the receiving state prior to relocating to the receiving state. If you are found in the receiving state without permission, the receiving state will automatically reject your transfer request and will not reconsider until you return to Georgia.

SECTION X- PRISON RAPE ELIMINATION ACT (PREA)

The Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) of 2003 is a federal law established to support the elimination and prevention of sexual assault/sexual misconduct in correctional systems. PREA addresses both inmate-to-inmate sexual assault and staff-to-inmate sexual assault. The Georgia Department of Corrections fully supports the guidelines set forth in this law and remains committed to a zero-tolerance policy against sexual violence.

There are some key things you can do, as an inmate, to protect yourself from becoming a victim.

- Avoid isolated or secluded areas
- Be aware of your body language
- Never share personal information
- Never accept gifts from another inmate
- Be cautious of inmates offering to protect you
- Report all acts of violence against you

Despite your best efforts, you could still end up a victim. If you are a victim of a sexual assault or any kind of sexual coercion, your best defense is to report the incident to any staff member as quickly as possible. If you are unwilling to report sexual assault to institution staff, you may also dial PREA (*7732) from an inmate telephone to leave a message on the department of corrections sexual assault hotline. This line will be checked every business day. By making the call, you are not only accessing the treatment necessary to deal with the numerous consequences of being victimized, but you are also doing your part to prevent the perpetrator from victimizing others. You can be assured that the information will be received in a confidential manner.

One of the most important things to remember if you are victimized is not to wash away the evidence.

- Don't Shower
- Don't Remove or Wash Your Cloths
- Don't Brush Your Teeth

- Get to Medical Immediately

When it comes to sexual activity within a correctional setting, the Department of Corrections policies and procedures are clear and prohibit any form of sexual activity. Beyond those rules, forced or coerced sexual behavior is a criminal act that merits criminal prosecution. All substantiated incidences are reported to the local police and an investigation is conducted to ensure the perpetrator faces the full consequences of the law.

If you would like to know more about the Prison Rape Elimination Act, the information can be found in your prison law library.

SECTION XI OFFICE OF THE OMBUDSMAN

The Office of the Ombudsman acts as a bridge between concerned citizens and the Department of Corrections by gathering information to potentially uncover and reduce problems within the corrections system. The Office of the Ombudsman SHALL NOT be a venue to circumvent the grievance and/or disciplinary procedures.

Inmates are encouraged to utilize the grievance and disciplinary appeal procedures. This will ensure that you have your concerns addressed by the appropriate staff member(s).

SECTION XII – INMATE TELEPHONE SYSTEM

The Georgia Department of Corrections, at its discretion, provides offenders access to a limited collect phone calling system referred to as the Inmate Phone System. The Department's current third party provider of this service is Securus. Friends and family members of offenders may contact Securus at 800-844-6591 or <https://www.securustech.net> for any questions regarding the receipt and payment of calls from the system. Friends or family members are encouraged to use this customer service contact number to resolve any issues that may arise with receiving calls from offenders at GA Dept. of Corrections facilities (i.e. call blocks, billing issues, call quality, etc.).

Regarding usage of the system by offenders:

Each offender will have an established phone list of up to a maximum of twenty (20) persons. The offender may have persons on the phone list that are not on his/her visitation list. The offender is responsible for providing accurate call list information. The offender is responsible for updating his/her call allow list every six months (if desired) according to procedure. Any offender who gives deceiving or deliberately inaccurate information in an effort to deviate from/circumvent established procedures shall be subject to disciplinary action through the inmate disciplinary process.

All calls may be monitored with the exception of calls to an offender's attorney of record and to the Indigent Defense Council. The Indigent Defense Council is a Georgia State agency, which provides legal services and information to indigent groups in Georgia. Their number is 404-232-8900 and may be included as one of the twenty numbers allowed.

Only calls to phone numbers on the offender's approved phone list can be placed through the inmate phone system.

- Calls will be allowed to cell phones whose owners establish a direct remit account with Securus. Calls will not be completed, nor accounts allowed to be established, for any prepaid or other similar temporary cellular numbers.
- Calls to remote forwarding numbers are not allowed.

- Calls transferred to three way calls and calls forwarded may be disconnected. There will be no refunds issued for disconnects of this type. In addition, numbers associated with these types of calls may be permanently blocked from future use.

Normal operating hours for the inmate telephones will be scheduled during non-work hours Monday through Friday and all day on Saturday, Sundays and holidays. The Warden/Superintendent shall have the authority to enable telephone operations during working hours for good cause. Operation hours will generally extend until lock down or lights-out time on a daily basis.

Phone units in all facilities (with the exception of the TTD phones) must be set with a 15-minute maximum limit on all calls. TTD phones must be set with a 30-minute maximum limit. Phones will automatically cut-off when the time limit is reached.

The offenders are responsible for using the phone system in accordance with operating instructions. Misuse of the phone system, including providing incorrect identification information (ID number; name; etc.) or failing to follow directions given through phone system prompts, will result in disciplinary action which may include loss of phone privileges in addition to other sanctions. Offenders under investigation for serious criminal offenses (i.e.

Murder, Homicide, Rape, Assault on Staff, etc.) will have their phone privileges suspended until the investigation is complete.

(i.e. Murder, Homicide, Rape, Assault on Staff, etc.) will have their phone privileges suspended until the investigation is complete.
